

In-Company Language Training Courses

We deliver communicative English language training courses on-site at premises across London and at our West End centre in Covent Garden. Our clients range from multinationals to small family firms. We have trained managers, salespeople, analysts, technicians, engineers, designers and many other professionals and service personnel. We are proud of our success in delivering effective courses to very specific requirements and timescales, and our outstanding client satisfaction rate.

Each trainee or training group has their own communicative needs. We identify, prioritise and deliver the communicative skills and role-specific language each person needs to perform their role competently in English.
